ANSWERS FOR LAST ISSUE:

HARI RAYA Celebrations

Hari Raya Puasa adalah hari perayaan yang amat penting bagi masyarakat Islam – ia adalah lambang kemenangan setelah menjalani puasa sebulan dengan penuh ihsan dan sabar. Biasanya, sanak saudara dan rakan-rakan akan berkumpul dan mengunjung satu sama lain untuk menikmati juadah raya dan meluangkan masa bersama. Namun, perayaan tahun ini agak berbeza. Walaupun hanya di rumah, semangat belas ihsan dan perpaduan masyarakat bagi Hari Raya tahun ini lebih bermakna dengan kita menyokong satu sama lain demi mengharungi cabaran masa ini. Mari kita terus raikan Aidilfitri yang bahagia ini dengan cara teristimewa!

Hari Raya Puasa is the “Day of Celebration” for the Muslim community – a mark of success after a month of observing patience and empathy through fasting. It is usually a time for families and friends to reconnect and enjoy good food and conversation in each other’s company. However, this year’s celebration is a special one. Despite having to be within the walls of our homes, the Hari Raya spirit of mercy and unity is even more significant as we do our part to support each other in this trying time. Let’s all celebrate this joyous occasion together in our very own way!

CELEBRATING A Warrior ON THE COVID-19 FRONTLINES

For someone who deals with patients day in and day out, even now in the thick of the COVID-19 outbreak, Senior Staff Nurse Ms Lee Shu Zhen maintains an attitude of positivity and gratitude. The East Coast-Fengshan resident shares about how things have changed – or haven't – since COVID-19 came to our shores.

Patients' needs remain at the forefront

"My daily routine at the Urology Centre involves taking blood samples from patients. Since the outbreak of COVID-19, the hospital has put in place heightened infection control and precautionary measures.

During the Chinese New Year period, I was supposed to attend a family gathering at my cousin's place. However, I politely declined the invitation to avoid the risk of falling sick from a large social gathering. I wanted to continue working at the frontline with my colleagues and be there to offer one another moral support.

Despite many uncertainties during this period, my colleagues and I are not fearful as we are well-equipped with infection control knowledge. We will continue to care for our patients like how we always have, but with heightened infection control measures."

Offering loved ones more care and support

"I try to avoid bringing my children to enclosed areas like shopping malls and supermarkets. I also emphasised to my children the importance of hand hygiene, reminded them to wash their hands frequently and discouraged them from touching their faces.

My family has been very supportive as my sister and I are both SGH nurses. They are aware that we have the duty to respond to an activation and return to the hospital anytime."

Gratitude fuels her

"I am touched and motivated by words of encouragement from relatives, friends and the general public that will see me through this challenging period."

4 tips for staying safe

Shu Zhen encourages all residents to follow these tips to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and lower your chances of getting infected

- Adhere to government's advice.
- Do not touch your face and wash your hands frequently with soap.
- Always put on a mask if you are leaving the house. If you are sick, please see the doctor and stay home.
- Do not doctor-hop.

RESPONSIBLE INCENSE BURNING

Please use designated or your own burner for burning

Please burn joss paper in small quantities to minimise smoke

Please do not burn joss paper in the ground or on grass patches

Please burn joss paper in burners instead of scattering them

A little thoughtfulness can make a big difference to everyone!

NO DISTANCE TOO FAR, NO HELP TOO LITTLE

Supporting EACH OTHER THROUGH COVID-19

Despite the stronger emphasis for those over 60 years old to stay home during this circuit breaker period, elderly residents of East Coast-Fengshan, Mr Sunny (60) and Mrs Sandra (71), are calm and untroubled by the regulations.

Understanding the need for such measures

Mr Sunny used to keep busy with ukulele classes, choir practice, and taking walks around the neighbourhood with his friends before the circuit breaker began. Although he spends his time at home now, he finds the measures acceptable as it “keeps people safe”. Instead of going out, he enjoys getting fresh air while watching the scenery from the window where he “can see East Coast [Park]”.

His 32-year old son who lives with him is the only one who goes out to buy what the family needs. In adherence to the guideline that one has to wear a mask when leaving the house, the family keeps a supply of medical masks for use. Although it may be uncomfortable, Mr Sunny thinks that it is “important to protect yourself from the virus”.

Kindness goes a long way

Being an active volunteer with various organisations, Mrs Sandra admits that she cannot be as involved during this period as she was before because of the vulnerability that comes with her age. Regardless, she is still in contact with her friends through phone calls, ready to offer support in any way she can.

She lives with her husband and takes on the responsibility of maintaining the household. This means having to leave the house for groceries and essentials on her own. Having witnessed and experienced herself how Social Distancing Ambassadors (SDAs) remind people about the regulations in public places, Mrs Sandra commends their approach which she found to be “very nice and polite.”

Looking out for one another as measures ease

With the various regulations implemented, one can easily confuse or overlook what might once be normal daily habits but are restricted now.

“Some old people might not know, but they read newspapers and watch news on the tv. So they can understand the situation if you explain to them,” Mrs Sandra points out.

As part of the community, we can help each other by engaging with our neighbours and offering the support they need. This can be by offering to buy their groceries, helping them understand how to use certain apps on their phones, or simply calling them to ask about their day. By keeping calm and positive while looking out for one another, we can ensure the safety and wellbeing of everyone as we gradually return to our daily lives.

Coastal Adventure Corridor (Round Island Route)

The 60km Coastal Adventure Corridor is the first of three park connector corridors of the 150km Round Island Route.

The new corridor will cover the north-western, east and south of Singapore, stretching from the coasts of Punggol, Pasir Ris, Changi and East Coast Park flanking Rower's Bay at Lower Seletar Reservoir Park and Gardens by the Bay East.

Bedok Nature Way

Bedok Nature Way is integrated with the outdoor play corridor alignment with more enhancements along the way.

The project links between East Coast Park to Bedok Reservoir Park, with the route crossing Laguna Flyover, Bedok South Ave 1, New Upper Changi Road, Bedok North Ave 1 and Bedok North Road.

Phase 1 works have been completed and Phase 2 works are ongoing.

Play Corridor

Play Corridor stretches between Bedok Reservoir Park and East Coast Park. It is a 4km-long park connector with 4 unique stations that interpret the theme of the play through anchors in the history of the area.

Bedok, Chai Chee and Marine Parade were once famous for its fishing villages, hilly landforms with valleys and many sea-front villas. The character of these historical landforms has been transformed into a stage for imaginative play activities, a space for community to gather, relax, play and learn.

Changi Village Market and Jetty

Meet the quiet seaside enclave of Singapore's Changi Village, located within the eastern area of Singapore known as 'Changi'. This is a unique Singapore neighbourhood reminiscent of the slow-paced kampungs of Singapore's yesteryear.

Changi Airport and Jewel

In operation since 1981, Changi Airport serves more than 100 airlines flying to 380 cities worldwide. It is one of the largest transportation hubs in Asia featuring 'Jewel', a nature-themed entertainment and retail complex housing the world's tallest indoor waterfall, the HSBC Rain Vortex.

Simei East Multi-purpose hall and park

Having went through the Neighbourhood Renewal programme in 2016, the project design for this was based on the concept of Vibrant Community Living. In addition to important infrastructure facilities like drop-off porches and covered walkways, the sports and communal facilities have fostered closer community bonding and healthy lifestyles.

Bedok Amphitheatre

Heartbeat@Bedok

Open since 2017, Heartbeat@Bedok is conceptualised as a town-level community avenue to meet the changing lifestyle needs of over 290,000 Bedok residents. The building is located at the confluence of major pedestrian nodes in the heart of the Bedok Town Centre and near to public transport and commercial malls, making it easier for residents to enjoy the facilities and participate in community programmes.

YOUR KINDNESS Warms OUR HEARTS

The outbreak of COVID-19 has impacted our way of life. In such trying times, frontline workers are working round-the-clock to keep us safe and ensure that essential services remain available.

We are heartened to receive, over the past few weeks, numerous feedback and words of encouragement from residents in appreciation of our frontline workers, which includes our cleaners, lift technicians, horticulture team and maintenance officers.

We have received surgical masks from Mr Kuan Tan and Mr David Tan, welfare goodie bags from Temasek Secondary School, and reusable masks from Contribution.sg.

We are also very grateful to all other donors who have contributed masks and care packs, among other essential items.

Thank you for your kind generosity towards our staff and cleaners!

BEDOK

In collaboration with Bedok Residents Committees, members of Bedok Youth Network prepared 167 bottles of hand sanitiser and installed them in the lifts of all the 52 blocks to keep our Bedok Community safe from COVID-19. Hand sanitisers were installed at Sennet Ave and Lucky Gardens playgrounds too. The hand sanitiser is re-filled by the RC members on a weekly basis.
